TENTERDEN

THE JEWEL OF THE WEALD

Widely regarded as one of the most charming towns in the South East, Tenterden and its surrounding villages and countryside is a fascinating place to visit and explore.

It is home to two museums (the town museum and the Col. Stephens Museum - his life and light railways), numerous historic buildings and churches and great local attractions such as the Kent & East Sussex Railway and some first class places to stay and eat.

Nearby there are wonderful gardens and historic houses including Smallhythe Place, Hole Park Gardens, Great Dixter House and Gardens, Sissinghurst Castle Gardens and Leeds Castle. The historic towns of Rye and Cranbrook, the sandy beaches of Camber and the mysterious and atmospheric Romney Marsh are close by.

4 Tenterden and District Museum

In a quiet location just off Tenterden High Street, the 19th century weatherboard building was a coach house and stables. Exhibits show the history of Tenterden and the Cinque Ports.

Welcome

With its unique mix of fascinating history and heritage, traditional shopping, family fun, great country activities and events, Tenterden and its surrounding villages have something for everyone.

So, whether you are looking for a great day out, a weekend break or a longer stay, no other place offers so much to see and do, whatever the weather or time of year.

Family fun

Tenterden has a wide range of family activities to suit all tastes.

The town is home to The Kent & East Sussex Railway, which regularly hosts special events such as 'A Day Out with Thomas™' and takes visitors to medieval Bodiam Castle in East Sussex.

It also boasts a superb recreation ground with a children's play area, tennis courts, picnic area, bowls green and football pitch. A leisure centre with gym, health suite and swimming pool with fun flume and water features completes the offer.

History and heritage

Until the silting up of the River Rother blocked its access to the sea in the 16th century, Tenterden had a bustling port and shipbuilding centre at Small Hythe that supported a flourishing wool trade. In 1449 it became a member of the Cinque Ports.

Much of the town's heritage remains today, including many historic timber framed buildings, a medieval church, cobbled alleys and the Georgian Town Hall. To discover more pick up a copy of the town's Heritage Trail to enjoy a leisurely stroll back in time, or visit the Tenterden & District Museum.

Country activities

The town is surrounded by the High Weald, an area of Outstanding Natural Beauty with easy access to an unbeatable range of country activities.

Walkers can follow way marked country trails or circular walks around the town or 'park, walk and ride' by steam train. The quiet country lanes are a cyclist heaven - Cycle Route 18 links Tenterden to Ashford and Tunbridge Wells. Horse riding is available, anglers can fish in well stocked waters and golfers are spoilt for choice with top quality courses including Chart Hills and London Beach.

Traditional shopping

Tenterden's charming high street and adjacent lanes boast a range of quirky independent stores which allow visitors to experience shopping as it used to be.

It's just the place to find that special gift, local craft, book or antique in a relaxed and welcoming environment.

Tenterden is still a market town hosting a Friday market and the nearby village of Rolvenden a weekly farmer's market.

Special events

Tenterden stages a wide range of family events throughout the year including:

Tentertainment - Kent's biggest and best summer-time music and local food festival; Tenterden Folk Festival - Internationally renowned festival over the first weekend of October; November Bonfire & Firework Spectacular; Christmas Festivities - Festive lights and late night shopping on the first Friday in December.

Look out for other events at The Sinden Theatre, the Kent & East Sussex Railway and The Barn Theatre in Small Hythe.

Hospitality

There's an unbeatable selection of places to stay to suit all tastes, from small cosy guest houses to larger hotels with excellent leisure facilities.

There's also an unrivalled selection of places to eat and drink from tea rooms and traditional inns to high quality restaurants offering menus from around the world.

Small Hythe is home to the award-winning Chapel Down Winery, nearby Biddenden boasts the Michelin starred restaurant, The West House and Biddenden Vineyards, Kent's oldest commercial vineyard.
