LOOKING AROUND

YOUTH WEEK

When the Mayoress of Tenterden (Mrs. Leslie Chalk) appeared on the staging for the opening of Tenterden Youth Week, she was given a tremendous reception by the hundreds of people who had gathered for the ceremony.

Mrs. Chalk outlined the purpose of the efforts which are being run from last Saturday until tomorrow and asked people to give generously so that the youth of Tenterden would have a building of their own.

The Mayoress introduced Mr. Maurice Woodruff, the world-famous clairvoyant and astrologer, to perform the opening ceremony.

Also on the platform were Sir John Kotelawala, a former Premier of Ceylon and the possible future Governor-General of that country; Liz Frazer, Libby Morris and Anne Rogers, stars of stage, screen and television; Murray Kash, a well-known disc jockey; and little Roberta Rex, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gerry Rex, who is making a name for herself as a vocalist.

With Mr. Woodruff was his personal manager and compere, Mr. Harry Arnold.

Stalls, all of which were situated on the grass verge in the High Street, were soon surrounded by people who bought from them or tried the numerous competitions for very attractive prizes.

Bingo and tombola were included in the attractions, and there was a beauty contest in which three local girls were chosen for future entry in a contest to find the Maid of Tenterden, which will be sponsored by the KENT MESSENGER.

In the evening there was a wrestling display in the primary school playground, when four main bouts were staged by the South Eastern Area amateur champions.

Mr. and Mrs. A. G. Pinard, the Pearly King and Queen of Greenwich and Deptford, who have appeared on television, circulated with collection boxes among the crowds.
